

SPONSORSHIP INFORMATION for the 2016 CMC SEMINAR

CMC Seminar Overview

The Critical Materials Council Seminar is a 2 day event providing actionable information on manufacturing supply-chains for current and future semiconductor materials. Business drives the world, but technology enables semiconductor business, so we must understand the dynamics of how materials and technologies enable the scaling of devices in IC fabs. Seminar speakers will provide information on critical materials used in established HVM fabs, while also looking at manufacturing integration issues associated with new materials needed for future devices. This event will be held at The Embassy Suites Hotel, 20001 NW Tanasbourne Dr., Hillsboro, Oregon.

About the Critical Materials Council (CMC Fabs)

The Critical Materials Council for Semiconductor Device Fabricators (CMC), originally started in the early 1990's by SEMATECH, actively works to identify issues surrounding the supply, availability, and accessibility of semiconductor process materials, current and emerging – “Critical Materials”. They do this by collectively working to solve common materials related issues in a non-competitive environment. As of January 1, 2016, Sematech transitioned the CMC to TECHCET CA LLC, a company dedicated to tracking materials supply chain business and technology trends. TECHCET is honored to be hosting this group of industry leaders.

The CMC supports the continuous improvement of the Materials Supply Chain Community for Semiconductor Fabricators. For more information on CMC Fabs organization, please go to www.CMCFabs.org or contact cmcinfo@techcet.com, +1-480-382-8336.
